2. processing of personal data:

When using "Microsoft Forms", various types of data are processed. The scope of the data depends, among other things, on what data you enter. It is not possible to provide an exhaustive list of all data, as it is always possible to send personal data when using open questions.

The following personal data are subject to processing:

User details: e.g. profile information (in case of internal use at FST)

Usage metadata: e.g. date, time of day

Text based data in answer fields: You decide here which personal data you transmit to us.

We use "Microsoft Forms" to collect feedback from our customers and employees. This can be information about the performance of our products and services.

Legal basis

Insofar as personal data of employees of Freudenberg FST GmbH or its associated companies is processed, Section 26 of the German Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG) is the legal basis for data processing. If, in connection with the use of "Microsoft Forms", personal data is not required for the establishment, implementation or termination of the employment relationship, but is nevertheless an elementary component of the use of "Microsoft Forms", Art. 6 (1) f) GDPR is the legal basis for data processing. In these cases, our interest lies in effectively ensuring customer and employee satisfaction and product improvement.

If there is no contractual relationship, the legal basis is Art. 6 para. 1 lit. f) GDPR. Here too, our interest is product improvement and customer and employee satisfaction

Personal data that is processed in connection with the operation of "Microsoft Forms" is generally not passed on to third parties unless it is intended to be passed on.

Other recipients: The provider of "Microsoft Forms" necessarily receives knowledge of the above-mentioned data insofar as this is provided for in the context of our order processing agreement with Microsoft.

Data processing outside the European Union

Data processing outside the European Union (EU) is generally not carried out, as we have limited our data storage location to data centers in the European Union. However, we cannot exclude the possibility that data is routed via Internet servers located outside the EU. This may be the case if users are in a third country.

The data is, however, encrypted during transport over the Internet and thus protected against unauthorized access by third parties.

3. Your rights as data subject

You have the right to be informed about the personal data regarding you. You can contact us for information at any time.

In the case of a request for information that is not made in writing, we ask for your understanding that we may require you to provide evidence that proves that you are the person you claim to be.

Furthermore, you have the right to correction or deletion or to restriction of processing, as far as you are legally entitled to do so.

Finally, you have the right to object to the processing within the scope of the statutory provisions.

You also have a right to data transferability within the framework of the data protection regulations.

4. Deletion of data

As a matter of principle, we delete personal data when there is no need for further storage. A requirement can exist in particular if the data is still needed to fulfil contractual services, to check and grant or ward off warranty and guarantee claims. In the case of legal storage obligations, deletion only comes into consideration after expiry of the respective storage obligation.

5. Right of complaint to a supervisory authority

You have the right to complain about the processing of personal data by us to a data protection supervisory authority. A overview of the relevant data protection authorities can be found here:
